

Moon Poem

by

Terry Bowman

Published on behalf of the author by Bickering on Sea

© Terry Bowman, 2013

All rights reserved.

The moral right of the author has been asserted.

Hello Moon see you there
In the sky shining bright
See me here on the Earth
What d’you have to say tonight?

Hello Man, so there you are
It’s good to see you in my light
I’ve been around the World once more
Watching nature from afar

Today I saw a Mountain crest
A new born eagle staring wide
Wondering if he’d ever fly
Across the land that looked so vast

The heart was pounding drawing breath
And then the mighty wings were spread
He looked at me as if for help
You can’t stop now so, “Jump”, I said

Nature will as nature ought
So spread your wings the time is short
I see the question in your eyes
But have no fear the eagle flies

So long Moon the time has come
To say farewell to greet the dawn
Your light is good, the Spirit’s high
Now I must jump - and then I’ll fly